Max Perwich joined Moore Ingram Johnson & Steele in 2017 as a member of the firm's Litigation Department. His practice areas include Commercial Litigation, Business Litigation, and Insurance / Liability Defense. Born on July 5, 1991, Max grew up as the child of a military officer and moved to many locations until eventually settling in Georgia in 2002. He received his undergraduate degree from Georgia State University, where he majored in Business Economics and graduated summa cum laude with a 4.0 GPA.

Max received his J.D. from Georgia State University College of Law where he was an associate research editor for the Georgia State University Law Review. He graduated magna cum laude in 2017, earning multiple CALI Awards and distinctions for legal research and writing. While at Georgia State College of Law, Max externed as a clerk for Justice Harold Melton of the Supreme Court of Georgia. He also clerked for a well-respected plaintiff's firm in Atlanta. Max was admitted to practice law in Georgia in 2017.

Max lives in Atlanta, Georgia. In his spare time, Max enjoys basketball, video games, his boxer named Samson, Spotify, and spending time with his friends and family.
