Tyler Waterfield joined Moore, Ingram, Johnson, and Steele in 2016, after one year of practicing workers' compensation defense in Albany, NY. Tyler works out of the firm's Knoxville office and continues to practice in the area of defending workers' compensation claims.

Tyler received his B.A. in Political Science from the University of Tennessee and his J.D. from Albany Law School in New York. In law school, Tyler was involved in the school's moot court program, as well as holding executive positions in various intramural programs. Tyler was admitted to practice law in New York in 2015 and has also been admitted to practice in the State of Tennessee in 2016.

Tyler lives in Knoxville with his wife Casey. He enjoys playing guitar, golf, and most importantly, cheering on the Tennessee Vols every Saturday in the Fall
